The Real Planned Parenthood: Leading the Culture of Death

2021 Edition

Key Points

Planned Parenthood took the lives of 354,871 unborn children in 2019, the most in any given year. It is also the second largest provider of hormone therapy to those who identify as transgender/have gender dysphoria.

Over the last 10 years, many of the health services provided by Planned Parenthood have consistently declined, including cancer screening and prevention programs, breast exams, and prenatal services.

Despite this, Planned Parenthood raked in $1.641 billion in 2019 (the highest annual total in its history), 38 percent of which ($618.1 million) came from taxpayers’ pockets.

The Basics

- Planned Parenthood Federation of America (PPFA), or Planned Parenthood, is the primary supplier of abortions in the U.S. According to Planned Parenthood’s most recent 2019-2020 annual report, it committed 354,871 abortions in fiscal year 2019, up by 9,199 abortions since 2018.¹ This is the highest number of abortions that Planned Parenthood clinics have committed in any given year.²

- According to these numbers, Planned Parenthood aborted 972 babies every single day in fiscal year 2019.

- According to a November 2020 CDC report, 619,691 abortions were reported to the CDC in 2018.³ In 2018, Planned Parenthood committed 345,672 abortions, which is 56 percent of all abortions reported to the federal government.
• From 2011-2019, Planned Parenthood committed over 2.9 million abortions (2,995,814).¹

• In 2019, there were over 200 Planned Parenthood facilities in 31 states providing services for patients who identify as transgender.⁵ Nationally, Planned Parenthood is the second largest provider of hormone therapy to those who identify as transgender/have gender dysphoria.⁶

A Decrease in Services

• Planned Parenthood reported 2.5 million patients in 2014 and 2.4 million patients for five consecutive years (2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, and 2019) for a decrease of 100,000 patients, or 4 percent between 2014 and 2019.

• From 2009 to 2019, cancer screening and prevention programs have consistently decreased by close to 70 percent (68 percent): 1,830,811 (2009) to 598,852 (2019).

• From 2009 to 2019, breast exams have consistently decreased nearly 70 percent (68 percent): 830,312 (2009) to 269,669 (2019). This is a 75 percent drop from a high of 1,086,654 in 2000.⁷ In 2015, for the first time in Planned Parenthood’s history, abortions outnumbered basic breast exams. These numbers do not include in-house mammograms because Planned Parenthood does not provide that service.⁸ In a September 2015 House Oversight Committee meeting, former Planned Parenthood president Cecile Richards admitted that Planned Parenthood does not provide mammograms, contradicting her 2011 claims that it did.⁹

• From 2009 to 2019, prenatal services have steadily decreased by almost 80 percent (79 percent): from 40,489 (2009) to 8,626 (2019). Planned Parenthood does not disclose what constitutes “prenatal services.”

interview with Live Action President Lila Rose, former Planned Parenthood manager Sue Thayer revealed that “adoption referrals” are simply women taking slips of paper with information about adoption.10

Rose: Was there a line in the annual report that said, “adoption referrals,” you know “colon,” and then the amount every year?

Thayer: There is. But they count any time that you check “adoption referral,” meaning that the client said, “I’ll take the information.” But does she follow up on that? Did Planned Parenthood follow up on that? No.

Expanded Use of Technology

Telemedicine

In the 2017-2018 report, Planned Parenthood first reported telemedicine services as part of their expanding care category. In 2019-2020, all 49 Planned Parenthood affiliates have telemedicine services, which may include birth control, STI testing and treatment, hormone therapy, and more.11

Apps

PPDirect: The Planned Parenthood Direct app has expanded from 11 states in 2017 to 39 states, and the District of Columbia, in 2019. In certain states, consumers can receive contraception prescriptions without consultation from a doctor.12 This app also lays the groundwork to be used to prescribe chemical abortions, should the Biden administration follow through on the requests by Planned Parenthood to repeal current federal laws requiring in-person dispensing of chemical abortion pills.

Roo: In January 2018, Planned Parenthood launched a chatbot for teens to ask questions about sex and reproductive health. This app is powered by AI with trained responses by Planned Parenthood “and content strategists to provide non-judgemental, science-based information to teens asking questions about all things sexual and reproductive health.”¹³ Interestingly, when a journalist asked “when does life begin,’ ‘does human life begin at conception,’ ‘are fetuses alive,’ and ‘I heard abortion kills babies’ — Roo was unable to process any of them and suggested either rephrasing the question or speaking to a live Planned Parenthood worker.”¹⁴ Roo, however, had no trouble answering the question “how do I get birth control without my parents knowing?” Roo also says parental permission is usually unnecessary except in certain states, and that Planned Parenthood can help teens “get started on birth control.”¹⁵

Spot On: Planned Parenthood redesigned their period and birth control tracking app. This app, available to people 12 and older, directs users to ways they can “Get birth control without leaving home with PP Direct,” talk to Roo, and read more about “Self-Care and Sex in a pandemic.”¹⁶

New Categories Since 2015

Well-Woman Exams and Miscarriage Management

- In 2015, Planned Parenthood added two new categories to its annual report: “well-woman exams” (226,254) and “miscarriage care” (2,073). Planned Parenthood reported 235,355 well-woman exams, and 1,182 cases of miscarriage care in 2016, 216,722 well-woman exams and 1,731 miscarriage care cases in 2017, 213,042 well-woman exams and 2,236 miscarriage care cases for 2018, and 208,248 well-woman exams and 2,110 miscarriage care cases in 2019. As in 2015, Planned Parenthood did not define what these services entail.

- In 2014, former Planned Parenthood director Abby Johnson wrote that in her Planned Parenthood protocol book there was one called “Miscarriage Management” that was “in preparation for when abortion [was] made illegal” and it gave step by step instructions on how to help women with self-abortions. Johnson wrote: “We would instruct women to take medications and/or vitamins to end their pregnancy. Some of those on the list were Vitamin C, Black or Blue Cohosh, or Misoprostol bought online. We would give them instructions on how much they needed to ingest in order to terminate their pregnancy. We would give them warning signs...signs to help them decide if they needed to go directly to the emergency room. If everything went as planned, they would be instructed to come to our facility for an ultrasound to confirm fetal demise and an MVA (Manual Vacuum Aspiration). This would not technically be considered an abortion since the death of the child had happened outside our facility. Of course, there would also be a fee for this ‘miscarriage management’ service.\(^7\)

- It has been uncovered that abortion industry instructs women who self-manage their abortions through the use of “the abortion pill” to lie and present themselves at a hospital as having a miscarriage when complications arise. It is possible that that these “miscarriage services” include completing the abortion surgically.\(^8\)

Expanded Chemical Abortion

- The 2017-2018 report stated that 357 of their facilities dispense medication abortions.\(^9\) While it is certain that Planned Parenthood is still dispensing medication abortions, in the 2019-2020 report there is not a breakdown of the number of facilities that dispense medication abortions.

The “3 Percent” Abortion Myth

- Planned Parenthood reports its health services data in a manipulated fashion to underemphasize abortion-related services. Planned Parenthood likes to tout that abortion only makes up approximately “3 percent of total services.”\(^10\) However, in 2011 National Public Radio clarified that a more accurate percentage of Planned Parenthood clients who have an abortion would be 10 percent.\(^11\) In 2019-2020, Planned Parenthood reported that abortions accounted for 3 percent of its services.\(^12\)

- Since Planned Parenthood committed 354,871 abortions in FY 2019 and saw 2.4 million people, and if each abortion was given to individual patients,\(^13\) then 15 percent of all their patients received abortions.
• While Planned Parenthood downplays its abortion statistics, it often highlights its non-abortion services by counting multiple services to a single client as separate services. For example, a pap smear, a pregnancy test, birth control packet, and STD testing done in one visit for one person are unbundled and counted as four different services, thus skewing their numbers. This is how Planned Parenthood claims to have provided almost 2.4 million services of which 354,871 are abortions, thus arriving at the 3 percent number. The gravely misleading number deliberately minimizes its abortion rate and fails to put into perspective the fact that Planned Parenthood’s “3 percent” abortion services make up nearly 60 percent (57 percent) of the total number of U.S. abortions reported to the federal government in 2018.

• Even Slate’s Rachael Larimore called the 3 percent number the “most meaningless abortion statistic ever” ... “to the point of being downright silly.” The Washington Post also called it “misleading” in its Fact Checker section.

Planned Parenthood’s Abortion Quotas

• Planned Parenthood has abortion quotas. Former Planned Parenthood Center Director Sue Thayer stated in an interview that her job required her to be “accountable for how many patients you see, and if you’re not seeing enough, why; and you need to have an action plan for [meeting the required number].” She went on to say that every center in Iowa (where she worked) “had a goal for how many abortions they needed to do.”

• In addition, former Planned Parenthood facility director Abby Johnson received confirmation in 2014 that the Planned Parenthood of the Rocky Mountains gave an award to the Planned Parenthood of Aurora, Colorado “for exceeding abortion visits in the first half of FY12 compared to first half of FY13.” Johnson went on to say, “Planned Parenthood has responded and has confirmed that, YES, this is an award that was given out by them. And, YES, they will continue to ‘celebrate their progress and they always will.”
• Former Planned Parenthood President Leana Wen stated that “our core mission is providing, protecting, and expanding access to abortion and reproductive health care. We will never back down from that fight.” Ultimately, however, Wen wanted to expand Planned Parenthood beyond abortions and into actual women’s health care, but she was fired less than a year after being hired as president. Planned Parenthood’s Board of Directors wanted to keep the organization focused on abortion and abortion advocacy instead of health care. This is very telling for an organization that claims that abortions are only 4 percent of their services. In a letter addressed to her former colleagues, Wen noted that philosophical differences between her and Planned Parenthood caused her departure:

I came to Planned Parenthood to run a national health care organization and to advocate for the broad range of public health policies that affect our patients’ health: ensuring access to quality, affordable health care — which includes the full spectrum of reproductive health care — for all; improving maternal health and the health of women before, during, and after pregnancy; increasing programs for cancer detection and STI/HIV treatment; and calling attention to the social determinants of health like food insecurity and housing instability that deeply affect people’s health and widen rampant disparities. The new Board leadership has determined that the priority of Planned Parenthood moving forward is to double down on abortion rights advocacy.

• In a self-authored New York Times op-ed, Wen explained that “I was asked to leave for the same reason I was hired: I was changing the direction of Planned Parenthood.”

• As further evidence of Planned Parenthood’s abortion priorities, in 2019 it voluntarily rejected millions of Title X funding rather than comply with the Trump administration’s Protect Life Rule which states that Title X recipients must have physical and financial separation of all abortion services. This is in keeping with the integrity of the original statute of the law that states, “None of the funds appropriated under this title shall be used in programs where abortion is a method of family planning.” A list of Planned Parenthood entities and pro-abortion states that chose to reject millions of dollars in federal funding rather than stop referring patients for abortion can be found in the reference noted here.\textsuperscript{34} The Biden administration has pledged to reinstate Title X funding for abortion in 2021.\textsuperscript{35}

Taxpayer Funding of Planned Parenthood

- While Planned Parenthood holds non-profit status, its total revenue for 2019-2020 was $1.641 billion, the highest in its history.\textsuperscript{36}

- The 2019-2020 Planned Parenthood report shows $888.3 million in unrestricted net assets, funds which are at Planned Parenthood’s disposal should it lose its government funding.\textsuperscript{37} For 2019, Planned Parenthood’s assets increased to over $2.3 billion.\textsuperscript{38}

- In 2019-2020, Planned Parenthood received $618.1 million in combined federal, state, and local government grants and contracts. Of all funding received by Planned Parenthood, 38 percent comes from taxpayers’ pockets.\textsuperscript{39}

- Historically, Planned Parenthood does not provide a breakdown of the amount of federal versus state funds it receives. However, a new 2021 study recently released by the Government Accountability Office details Planned Parenthood’s federal funding for fiscal years 2016, 2017, and 2018.\textsuperscript{40} This report found that in those three years Planned Parenthood received a total of $1.6 billion in federal taxpayer funds. This amounts to an average of $533.3 million annually.

- The majority of Planned Parenthood’s federal funding comes from reimbursements for Medicaid eligible health services like STI tests or cancer screenings. In 2018 Planned Parenthood received a total of $467.5 million from Medicaid alone. Planned Parenthood received an additional $105 million from various federal grant programs like Title X and the Teen Pregnancy Prevention Program to specifically use on contraception and other family planning services. This means that in 2018 Planned Parenthood raked in a grand total of $572 million dollars in federal taxpayer funds, their highest annual total ever reported.
• Removing the total federal funds reported by the GAO in 2018 leaves just around $44 million of taxpayer funds in 2018 that can be attributed to state and local governments. Even with strong efforts by the Trump administration to restrict Planned Parenthood’s federal funding, it is important to note that state governments fund Planned Parenthood as well and have historically rushed in to replace any lost federal funding in their bottom line.

Planned Parenthood: A Scandal-Ridden Organization

• In the wake of undercover videos showing Planned Parenthood officials discussing the sale of body parts from babies they have aborted, twelve states sought to take action which would defund the organization.\(^{41}\)

• After President Trump rescinded Obama-era guidance that blocked states from withholding Medicaid funds from entities that committed abortions,\(^{42}\) the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals reversed a lower court injunction that prevented the state of Texas from stripping Medicaid funds from Planned Parenthood in January 2019.\(^{43}\) On February 3, 2020, a Texas State District judge issued a temporary restraining order against Texas’ attempt to strip Medicaid funding from Planned Parenthood. There will likely be ongoing legal challenges regarding this case.\(^{44}\)

➢ Texas used the Center for Medical Progress (CMP) footage, whose undercover videos have been ruled inadmissible in other courts, as one of its major arguments for defunding the group. (Read on below for more on the CMP videos.) The fact that this court agreed that the CMP footage, which was forensically reviewed and determined to have not been “deceptively edited,” discredited Planned Parenthood’s central arguments against Texas.

➢ The videos that were shot inside Planned Parenthood Gulf Coast in Texas showed a Planned Parenthood employee explaining how to downplay the sale of fetal tissue, saying it was “just a matter of line items.”\(^{45}\) Another video featured abortionist Amna Dermish of Planned Parenthood of Greater Texas, in which she discussed how she more effectively harvests fetal body parts during abortions.\(^{46}\)
• In January 2017, Live Action released video and audio investigations concerning Planned Parenthood’s claims to provide prenatal care. Their videos reveal that less than 1 percent of the interviewed facilities actually provide prenatal care.

➢ Out of 97 Planned Parenthood facilities that they talked to, only five said they provided prenatal care.\(^{47}\)

➢ Another video revealed that of 68 Planned Parenthood facilities that were asked if they do an ultrasound in order to check the health of the baby,\(^{48}\) only three Planned Parenthood facilities said they did.

• Starting in July 2015, the Center for Medical Progress released a number of undercover videos taken of meetings with national leaders of Planned Parenthood discussing the sale of organs harvested from aborted babies.\(^{49}\)

• The videos provide evidence of other potentially illegal activities in addition to the possibility of profiting from the sale of organs from aborted babies. These include possible violations of laws requiring women be provided informed consent when their baby’s organs are being donated for research, possibly changing the position of the unborn child illegally to more easily obtain organs from the aborted babies, possibly partially delivering the baby to better harvest their organs in violation of the Partial Birth Abortion Act, and possibly even allowing babies to be born alive before harvesting their organs.

• This series of videos prompted investigations into Planned Parenthood by multiple Congressional Committees as well as by multiple states.\(^{50}\) The Select Panel on Infant Lives made fifteen criminal and regulatory referrals in December 2016, two of which directly involved Planned Parenthood facilities.\(^{51}\)
• Chairman Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa) of the Senate Judiciary made seven referrals to the FBI for continued investigation and possible prosecution for paid fetal tissue practices, including four Planned Parenthood facilities.52 A letter sent by the Department of Justice (DOJ) in December 2017 to the Senate Judiciary states the DOJ intends to complete a “thorough and comprehensive assessment” of Senator Grassley’s report.53

• Undercover investigations by Live Action suggested that Planned Parenthood had not been reporting statutory rape at a number of its affiliates.54 News stories show that these incidents are not isolated. In 2011, seven Planned Parenthood affiliates in New Jersey, New York, Virginia, and D.C. were recorded on video being complicit in covering up child prostitution and sex trafficking.55

• Planned Parenthood has also shown support for gendercide. “Protect Our Girls,” Live Action’s 2012 video project highlighting gendercide in America, exposed Planned Parenthood affiliates in Texas, Arizona, New York, Hawaii, and North Carolina encouraging women to get sex-selective abortions for unborn girls they did not want.56

• Live Action’s 2013 sting operation “Inhuman” reveals Planned Parenthood’s complicity in late-term abortions.57 The Guttmacher Institute reports that 1.2 percent of abortions are of babies 19 weeks post-fertilization and older.58 This means almost 13,000 American pain-capable59 unborn children die from late-term abortion each year.

• Planned Parenthood of Indiana has been accused of endangering the safety and well-being of minor girls by intentionally circumventing state parental involvement laws and breaking state law by refusing to report statutory rape.60 Planned Parenthood of Ohio was convicted of not enforcing parental consent laws in the case of a 14-year-old who got pregnant by her soccer coach.61 In 2014, an Arizona Planned Parenthood failed to report the rape of a teenage girl; the man behind this subsequently raped 18 other girls.62 The sheriff’s office report in this case stated, “The counselor intentionally miscoded the assault as a consensual encounter...the counselor told them that they did not want the hassle of having to report the assault to law enforcement as they were a mandatory reporter.”63
• In 2013, Alliance Defending Freedom released a report that details federal and state audits of Planned Parenthood affiliates from 1995–2010. These audits convey that these individual affiliates were responsible for over $99 million in waste, abuse, and potential fraud. Examples include giving prescriptions without authorization from a medical practitioner and misusing government funds to over-bill patients for family planning. Planned Parenthood of California was also accused of overcharging the state and federal governments by $180 million for birth-control pills, despite internal and external warnings that its billing practices were improper.

• Sue Thayer, former Planned Parenthood director, testified in an October 2015 Congressional hearing that she filed a federal False Claims Act complaint against Planned Parenthood alleging that it “filed false claims totaling about $28 million with Iowa’s Medicaid program for (1) illegally dispensing “medically unnecessary” quantities of oral contraceptive pills and birth control patches to C-Mail Medicaid patients and doing so without a prescription; (2) fraudulently billing the Iowa Medicaid program for abortion-related services; and (3) coercing “donations” from Medicaid patients.”

• Planned Parenthood promotes itself as a “non-partisan” organization, yet has promised supporters to turn out millions of votes and provide substantial financial support to elect pro-abortion candidates to the White House, Congress, and state governments, as it works to weaken and overturn pro-life laws at all levels. In 2012, the two Super PACs associated with Planned Parenthood spent over $15 million on the 2012 election, including $8 million on negative ads targeting Mitt Romney. Also in 2012, President Obama proclaimed his support for Planned Parenthood through a YouTube video he made for Planned Parenthood Action Fund supporters. In January 2016, the Planned Parenthood Action Fund endorsed Hillary Clinton for President of the United States in the organization’s first endorsement of a candidate during a primary race. In 2019, Planned Parenthood pledged to spend $45 million to elect pro-abortion candidates in the 2020 election cycle. Though Planned Parenthood claims to be “non-partisan,” $0 went to Republicans.
Planned Parenthood, Target Populations, and Eugenics

- The founding of Planned Parenthood is directly tied to the eugenics movement. The movement’s ultimate goal was the elimination of certain groups of “unfit” or “feeble-minded” people.\textsuperscript{72}

- Planned Parenthood targets minority populations: 79 percent of its surgical abortion facilities are located within walking distance of African American or Hispanic/Latino neighborhoods.\textsuperscript{73}

- Minorities account for almost two-thirds (62 percent) of all abortions in the U.S. (this includes Hispanic, Black Americans, and all non-white Americans).\textsuperscript{74} Black children are aborted at about five times the rate of white children.\textsuperscript{75}

- In a series of sting videos produced by Lila Rose, head of the organization Live Action, it was revealed that as many as seven Planned Parenthood facilities were willing to accept donations earmarked as abortion money according to race.\textsuperscript{76}

- Planned Parenthood also targets college students: 79 percent of Planned Parenthoods are located within five miles of a college campus.\textsuperscript{77}

- On Halloween in 2017, Planned Parenthood tweeted from their “Planned Parenthood Black Community” Twitter account that “If you’re a Black woman in America, it’s statistically safer to have an abortion than to carry a pregnancy to term or give birth.” The blunt encouragement of abortion in the black community cannot go unnoticed, let alone the fact that it has a Twitter account solely dedicated to indoctrinating black women to abort.\textsuperscript{78} Planned Parenthood also has a dedicated Twitter account for Latinos to push their abortion agenda.\textsuperscript{79}

- In their 2017-2018 Annual Report, Planned Parenthood reported that in July 2017 it transitioned its global headquarters from New York to Nairobi, Kenya, no doubt to continue to impose its pro-abortion agenda on a poor country where abortion is illegal except for the health and life of the mother.\textsuperscript{80} President Trump has prohibited international funding to pro-abortion groups by reinstating and expanding the Protecting Life in Global Health Assistance Policy (Mexico City Policy) which prohibits taxpayer funding to international groups that promote or provide abortions. Because the International Planned Parenthood Federation (IPPF) refused to comply, it was forced to shut down 22 of its programs in sub-Saharan Africa. On January 28, 2021, President Joe Biden repealed the PLGHA. As a result of this, Planned Parenthood will once again be eligible to receive international aid funds.

- Planned Parenthood first launched “Promotores de Salud” in the early 1990s in Los Angeles to promote abortion among Latino and Spanish-speaking communities. Planned Parenthood is continuing to expand the program, which is “modeled on Mexican and Central American adult peer education programs. Promotoras are experts not only in sexual and reproductive health, but in how to reach communities that too often don’t have access to the resources they deserve.”

Planned Parenthood in the Culture

- Planned Parenthood publicly celebrated New York’s new abortion law that allows abortions up until the day of birth. This extreme view on abortion is out of touch with the majority of Americans who believe that there should be restrictions on abortion. According to a recent Marist poll, 70 percent of Americans believe that abortion should be limited to within the first three months of pregnancy.

- In March 2018, a Planned Parenthood branch in Pennsylvania tweeted this: “We need a disney princess who’s had an abortion / We need a disney princess who’s pro-choice / We need a disney princess who’s an undocumented immigrant / We need a disney princess who’s actually a union worker / We need a disney princess who’s trans.” The tweet was later deleted with a clarification statement from the PPH branch president, but no apology was issued.

- Planned Parenthood has publicly supported a social media campaign called “#ShoutYour-Abortion,” which encourages women to proclaim and be proud of the abortions they have had.
Abortion ends the life of another human being. That is never something to be proud of or glamorize.

- Planned Parenthood highlighted its collaboration with the cast of Hulu’s Handmaid’s Tale to release a PSA “denouncing attacks on reproductive health care, and warning that denying access to safe, legal abortion is both dangerous and deadly.”88

There Are Better Options Than Planned Parenthood

- Planned Parenthood, as noted in its report, has just over 600 facilities. There are 13,540 federally qualified, low-cost, high quality health care clinics and rural health centers around the country. They outnumber Planned Parenthood facilities more than 20 to 1 nationally.89 Women have real choices when it comes to health care and they can find one of these clinics at: Resources.care-net.org/find-a-pregnancy-center

- These federally qualified health centers (FQHCs) not only offer screening and prevention services, pap smears, cancer screenings, breast exams, and prenatal services, but they also offer a full spectrum of other primary care services that Planned Parenthood fails to provide:

  - Mammograms
  - A variety of immunizations
  - Diabetes and glaucoma screenings
  - Cholesterol screenings
  - Cardiovascular screening blood tests
  - Thyroid function tests
  - Eye, ear, and dental screenings
  - Preventive dental services
  - Well-child services
  - Medical nutrition services
  - Bone mass measurement
➢ Social worker services
➢ Mental health services
➢ Substance abuse services
➢ Emergency medical services
➢ And others\textsuperscript{90}

• FQHCs offered services for 29.8 million patients in 2017\textsuperscript{91} compared to Planned Parenthood who served 2.4 million.\textsuperscript{92} That’s over 12 times as many patients.

• With an extra half a billion dollars in taxpayer funds that currently goes to Planned Parenthood, these FQHCs could grow and expand their reach. The Trump administration’s \textit{Protect Life Rule} freed up resources to go to FQHCs and pregnancy resource centers (PRCs). Both FQHCs and PRCs outnumber abortion facilities and provide true comprehensive care for women. We are saddened by the Biden administration’s reversal of the Trump administration’s \textit{Protect Life Rule} and look forward to the day when American taxpayer dollars no longer fund abortion and instead promote a culture of life.
